

Emma Upright

Dance Instructor Emma Upright has been passionate about dance since the age of three. At just eight years old, she joined No Limits Dance Studio and began competing by the age of ten. Trained in a variety of styles—ballet, contemporary, modern, tap, acro, jazz, and improv—Emma brings a wealth of experience and creativity to the dance floor.

A graduate of Oakleaf High School, Emma pursued business studies alongside her dance education, preparing for her future dream of owning a dance studio. Currently, she is majoring in Dance at Florida State College at Jacksonville, where she is also an accomplished member and student choreographer for the school's dance company, DanceWorks.

Since 8th grade, Emma has been sharing her love for dance as a teaching assistant, and she continues to inspire young dancers today as a teacher for Level II Ballet and Level I Contemporary. Her passion for performance shines through in everything she does, whether on stage or in the classroom. Emma is working toward her BFA in Dance, with plans to teach, choreograph, and one day perform professionally, either as a Disney performer or a backup dancer.
